A brief tribute by Rob Palmer

I have known Ken since 1980 and He and I became good friends shortly thereafter.
 Besides spending loads of time hawking, I Also was a major fan groupie of his Many r&r bands as well as a singer
 Occasionally, who wouldn't with a name like Robert Palmer. When it came to falconry one thing Always came to mind with Ken. Have a Good time and leave your ego inside. He Flew redtails, Harris hawks and falcons over the 35 Years I knew him. It was never about him
 It was about the birds and all his friends and He had hundreds. He has inspired me to leave my ego behind and just enjoy life. I miss him every day and the memories are entrenched in me forever.

*Cherish your yesterdays,
 dream your tomorrows and live your todays.*
